This is part of the scrap pile—just a small corner of it, in fact—built up Tuesday by your children. Estimates vary, but there's probably more than 40 tons in the vast heap. Will you do as well this Sunday—for the boys in service?

Large Quota Leaves For Induction

Andover Men Form Half October Group Sent This Morning By Local Draft Board 3

Children Collect Huge Scrap Pile

Public Collection Sunday Morning By 48 Vehicles

If the school children can do it, so can their parents—that would seem to be the logical inference. If Andover householders will do as well as the children of the local schools did Tuesday morning, its huge scrap quota will be raised.

Possibly never in the history of Andover was there such a demonstration of mass cooperation on the part of school children as there was Tuesday, when all the youngsters got together to pile up nearly 50 tons of scrap in the school yards. More than 100 tons are needed in all during the present campaign, which reaches its climax Sunday.

The performance of the children Tuesday was an inspiring one. They visited nearly every house and street in town. They went down into cellars and into attics. They scoured fields and dumps. They loaded trucks, filled toy carts, made use of bicycles, carried junk in their own two hands.

A fairly large quota of men from Draft District 3 left the town hall headquarters this morning for an induction center. The men took an early morning train for the center after assembling at the town hall half an hour earlier. As has been the case in several recent induction calls, several World War veterans were included in the group.

Roughly half the men inducted were from Andover. Several of them had previously enlisted in other branches of the armed forces, but were credited to the local board as part of its quota.

Those sent for physical examination at the induction center were:

Edward Anthony Rogers, 127½ South Elm street, Bradford.

James Jennings Edgar, 29 Morton street, volunteer.

Cyril Raymond Knowles, 235 Middlesex street, North Andover.

John Ambler Mawson, 73 South Pleasant street, Bradford.

Francis Joseph Haphey, 1986 Great Pond road, North Andover.

Alfred Robert Montgomery, 210 Osgood street, North Andover.

Robert William Hebb, North and Webster streets.

Fred James Ballantyne, 27 Marblehead street, North Andover.

School Committee Grants Leaves To Two Teachers

The Andover school committee, at its Tuesday night meeting, granted leaves of absence to two more local teachers who are entering the service, Milton C. Blanchard, principal of the Junior high school, in the Naval Reserve, and Miss Gwen Armitage, teacher at Punchard high school, in the WAVES.

It is expected that no new principal will be appointed to replace Mr. Blanchard, the work being carried on by his secretary and the Junior high school teachers. Miss Armitage, though she was granted a leave of absence effective October 2, will continue to teach until she is called to active duty. The present serious and almost unprecedented shortage of capable teachers forces the committee to keep its experienced personnel as long as possible.

Kenneth McKinry, recently elected to teach in the physical education department by a voice vote of the entire committee, was formally elected to the position Tuesday night, at a salary of $2200 per year.

Charles A. Gregory, instructor of history at Punchard high school, was granted a $100 salary increase for professional study.

Late yesterday afternoon, a large four-foot-by-twenty red, white and blue banner was hung across Main street at the square, reminding the public to attend the huge servicemen's carnival this weekend at the playstead. The colors were appropriate, for, instead of a red letter day, Andover, over the holidays, will experience a whole red-white-and-blue weekend.

Nearly every conceivable type of entertainment, fostered by the combined talents of nearly every Andover organization, will be offered during the weekend, and the money realized will go toward the purchase of Christmas gifts of every Andover boy and girl in the service, the first major activity of the Andover Servicemen's Fund committee. Those in charge of the carnival expect an enthusiastic turnout, and well they might.

The program will open Friday evening, at which time the public will be admitted to a monster midway featuring among other things hobby-horses, a ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, and pony rides. Equipment is being furnished by a concession from an amusement park. Those who are to man the midway chance and refreshment booths are asked to report on the grounds at 6:00 tomorrow evening; the full committee will hold its final meeting tonight at 7:30 in the town hall court room.

Members of the Legion and auxiliary will form in line at the corner of Chestnut and Bartlet streets at 2:15 and march to the plaque. Both the Legion Junior drum corps and Punchard girls' band will take part in the exercises. The program will be in charge of the plaque committee, of which Stafford A. Lindsay is chairman.

The complete program will be: National Anthem by Punchard girls' band; invocation by Very Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O. S. A.; remarks by Selectmen Roy E. Hardy, J. Everett Collins and Edward P. Quigley, commandant at the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea; benediction by Rev. John S. Moses; taps by the Junior bugle and drum corps.

Scrap Admits Children To Movies October 17

Five to ten pounds of scrap metal will admit any child to a special Saturday morning program at the Andover Playhouse on October 17. All proceeds from the collection will be turned into the Andover Servicemen's Fund.

The collection will start at 9:30, and the moving picture program at 10:00. Short subjects and a serial will be shown.

Francis Zecchini of Main street is spending several days in New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Punchard Meets Strong Reading Team Saturday

Deprived of bus transportation because of the gas shortage, Punchard's once-beaten football eleven will make the trip by private cars this Saturday afternoon to play Reading high school on the latter's grounds.

Last Saturday's game, despite a roaring come-back by the local team after coming out of the first half 12 points behind, saw Punchard lose to a strong Danvers aggregation, 12-6.

Shortly after the opening kickoff of the second half, Danvers kicked to the Punchard 13-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Frank Buntin of Andover scooted through tackle, weaved around several prospective tacklers, and hustled 87 yards down the left side-line to score.

The first score came half-way through the first period, when Captain Pydynkowski of Danvers went over from the 11. In the second period, with the ball in Punchard's possession, Gil Hamlin, Punchard captain, bulled through to the 49. In the ensuing pileup, Kornachuk, Danvers end, got possession of the ball, burst out of the pile, and scored without another hand being laid on him.

Punchard led in most of the important statistics of the game, rushing 208 yards from scrimmage to Danvers' 158, getting 12 first downs to 9 for Danvers, completing six out of 12 passes for a gain of 63 yards.

ENROLLED AT SIMMONS

Urge Application Now For New Gas Books

The local rationing board urges all car owners who have received application blanks for new gasoline books, to fill them in and return them to the rationing office immediately. The old books will not be valid after October 21. Applications will be acted on by the board in the order that they are received, and, as each individual case must be reviewed thoroughly, and the old and new applications and allotments examined, prompt action by the car-owner is necessary to insure his getting the new book by October 22.

A few books, issued after the first general distribution, are valid after October 21, and B books, of course, are good for any period previously assigned to them.

Since some confusion has resulted from recent stoppings of cars bearing B and C stickers, by state inspectors, it is pointed out that A books may be used for any purpose, and are designed to afford 240 car miles. When a B or C book is issued, however, the government makes such an allotment, in view of the driving done by the car owner that is necessary to the war effort or the public welfare, that only 90 miles may be used for other purposes. If a driver is observed by the authorities under such circumstances that it is clear that he has exceeded his 90 miles of pleasure driving, and that he is using some of the gasoline given him for business reasons for other purposes, suitable action will be taken.

Promotions Announced In Local State Guard

Several promotions were made at the regular Sunday morning drill session of the 80th company, 24th Infantry, M. S. G. First Sergeant George C. Emmons and Sergeant Albert E. Curtis were promoted to lieutenant; Sergt. Hugo A. Paakki to first sergeant; Corp. Everett MacAskill and Corp. Carl W. Miller to sergeant; Pvt. first class William S. Watt to corporal; Pvt. Edward Thorburn to Corporal; Pvt. Walter H. Partridge and Pvt. Francis R. Rodalvics to private first class.

Captain H. Garrison Holt, commanding officer, announced that several members of the company had been lost through enlistment in the armed forces. Twenty new recruits would be welcomed in the unit.

Sunday, members of the company will appear at drill in full dress uniform.

LINDSAY HEADS DRIVE

Stafford A. Lindsay of Argyle street has been appointed chairman of the next Red Cross War Fund campaign, to be held in March. He has been active in the Red Cross organization for several years, and was one of its directors last year.

Other officers of the drive will be announced shortly.

The Ruthless Enemy That moves on Silent Feet

THERE'S an enemy in your house. You didn't invite him — you can't get at him or fight him with a gun. He makes no noise to warn you of his attack. He cares not what victims he maims or kills.

That enemy is Fire.

You're not worried about fire? You've never probed the ashes of your own home. You've never seen a child in agony from third degree burns. You've never experienced the helpless, empty feeling of remorse that fire leaves in its wake.

Pray God you never will. But certainly you can't afford to be indifferent about harboring an enemy who may be waiting right now to break loose somewhere in your home.

Can you, for instance, say that all the appliances and electrical cords in your house are sound and safe? It takes only a few minutes to find out.

Can you honestly claim that your attic, cellar and garage are free of rubbish or clutter that make the enemy's work so easy? It takes only a few minutes to find out.

Are you sure that the fluid cleaners used in your house are marked "Non-Inflammable" — does anyone ever worry about whether oily rags are piled in a corner — or thrown away, or tucked in a covered metal container where they will do no harm? It takes only a few minutes to find out.

Can you do any more than guess that your heating plant and chimneys are perfectly safe? It takes only a few minutes to find out.

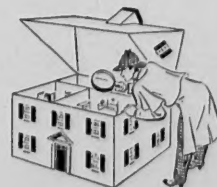

Have you never smoked in attics, closets or in bed — have you never been careless in discarding cigarettes and matches?

You can drive the enemy from your house by appointing yourself a Home Fire Detective. Rout him out wherever you find him, from cellar to attic. You'll be paid well — in security for those you love, in lower insurance costs*, in continued possession of the irreplaceable belongings so necessary to your family's comfort and convenience. In addition, you will be making an active contribution to the war effort by helping conserve vital materials and labor.

How else can you do so much for yourself, and your country — so easily?

*The MERRIMACK MUTUAL is owned by its policyholders. Earnings above losses, expenses and reserves, are paid back to policyholders to reduce the cost of their insurance. Due to systematic property inspection and education against fire, losses have been much less than the average company. The result — large cash savings to policyholders — savings which may be used to buy War Bonds. Policies are non-assessable, and serviced by more than 1,000 local agents in twenty-one states.

FOUNDED

Whether you are a Merrimack policyholder or not, won't you "join up" and be a Home Fire Detective. Safeguard yourself and your family — conserve vital materials needed in the war effort.

Junior High Principal Enters Naval Service

Milton C. Blanchard, principal of the Junior high school for the past two years, was sworn in Monday as a lieutenant, junior grade, in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He expects to go on active duty about November 15.

He is a graduate of Wentworth Institute and Boston University, with the class of 1936, and taught several years in the local school system before being appointed principal. He resides on Appletree lane.

In all probability, no new principal will be appointed, the duties being carried on through the superintendent's office for the remainder of the war.

ATTENDS POLICE SCHOOL

Police Chief George A. Dane, with more than 350 other police officials throughout the state, attended a large defense school at the Copley Plaza hotel in Boston Tuesday. Speaking at the school were Governor Saltonstall, Lieut. Gov. Cahill, Chairman J. Wells Farley of the state committee on public safety, Generals Sherman Miles, John H. Sherbourne and Daniel Needham. A good many matters relative to police work in time of emergency were cleared up at the meeting, and a lengthy question period followed.

Don Cossacks Sing Here November 3

The world-famous Don Cossack chorus, always favorably received in their numerous appearances here, will precede its Symphony Hall concert with an appearance at George Washington hall November 3. The Cossacks, now on their 13th American tour, are still conducted by Serge Jaroff, the diminutive leader who formed this group out of a horde of bedraggled, homesick soldiers in a military camp near Constantinople more than 20 years ago.

Their repertoire includes folk tunes, Cossack soldier songs and liturgies. This event is sponsored by the music department at Phillips academy. Mail orders will be given attention in order of receipt.

Abbot Academy Notes

Daytime and evening air raid drills have been held with great success this week, and with the opening of school-wide defense courses next week, Abbot will have approached the wartime tempo which the students are eager to achieve. First aid, motor mechanics, elementary meteorology, home nursing and nutrition will be the subjects available to upper classmen, and the younger girls will be offered an opportunity for training in plane spotting, a junior course in air raid precaution, and they will also make and equip kits for soldiers and sailors, and sew and knit for the Red Cross.

The Senior Class will have its annual picnic this year on Friday afternoon with Miss Hearsey and Miss Sweeney. For obvious reasons the usual Ipswich Beach trip will have to be omitted, but there is a spot within walking distance of the school which will be an acceptable substitute. As usual, a canoe trip on the Shawsheen, a luncheon ride, picnic walks, and tennis will take up the hours on Saturday, and in the evening age and youth will entertain the school when the Senior class and the residents of Abbey House will present stunts in Davis Hall.

The Reverend Raymond Calkins, D. D., pastor emeritus of the First Church in Cambridge, will speak at the 7:30 vesper service on Sunday night.

Punchard Notes

Ruth Gregory

This week the public schools have begun their contribution to the scrap drive in earnest. Punchard pupils went out Tuesday to collect all the scrap they could get their hands on and all that was permissible for them to take. Each home room was divided into squads, and some squads went as far as Ballardvale. The pupils appreciated the co-operation of the householders all along their routes.

On Friday, the school held a foot- ball rally in the bleachers. The cheerleaders, with Barbara Ferrier in charge, presented several new cheers. Before the school returned to their classes everyone was cheering with a spirit that had not been equalled in any previous rally.

Monday, at the regular assembly, Mr. Lovely discussed Fire Prevention Week. He said that the pupils should be especially careful be- cause serious accidents may result from fire, to say nothing of the amount of material damage done.

Last Wednesday, Punchard and the ninth grade had a combined as- sembly. Mr. Burke, manager of shop work at the National Youth Project of Lawrence, was the speaker. He said that young people might obtain a good job if they would only go through a training period of about four months. This training period should result in their laying a good foundation on which they might build a desir- able vocation, and would enable them to immediately obtain a job in one of the many war plants. He also said that although girls had not been allowed to take this train- ing period until recently, he had 10 girls who, at the present time, are employed by Pratt and Whit- ney, and who are just as efficient as the men.

This assembly was given under the direction of Mrs. Carter and Mr. Manning of the guidance de- partment.

Morrissey To Study Fire Control At Navy School

James Joseph Morrissey, 21, of 7 Temple place, a recent graduate of the school of the recruit at the U. S. Naval training station at New- port, R. I., will attend a Navy school for fire controlmen for spe- cialized training.

Morrissey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Morrissey, has a brother, Walter J., private first class in the Army.

He is a graduate of Punchard high school, where he was a mem- ber of the basketball and football team, and has also played on the Andover town team. At the time of his enlistment he was employed by the Watson Park Company.

SPEAKS ON FIRE PREVENTION

Frank L. Brigham of Punchard avenue, vice-president of the Mer- rimack Mutual Fire Insurance com- pany, gave an interesting talk over a Lawrence radio station Monday night during a special pro- gram in observance of Fire Preven- tion Week. Mr. Brigham is a mem- ber of the speakers committee of the Fire Waste Council, part of the conservation division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Helpful Suggestions

Wash interior frequently with mild solution of baking soda and warm water. Clean freezer unit too — prevents odors. Don't overcrowd — allow for air circulation. Reset cold control after quick-freezing. Defrost according to directions.

Wartime restrictions mean that we must take good care of our gas refrigerators, so they will serve us better — longer. Because the gas refrigerator has no moving parts, long years of thrifty, dependable refrigeration is assured. But proper care will help to prolong its usefulness and return extra dividends.

Scrap

It might reasonably have been expected that the children would take to collecting junk as something of a lark. It was quite a different matter to expect them to work earnestly and diligently all through the morning and well into the afternoon, to use their heads and their backs as strenuously as they did.

There wasn't a slacker among them. A group of perhaps 15 were seen around noon, carrying a huge bed-spring up North Main street, loaded two feet deep with an amazing assortment of scrap. Two more youngsters, totally unperturbed, were wheeling a bed frame past the National bank. Householders around Holt road watched in amazement as the youngsters advanced with a horse and wagon. Scouting forays forged well into Ballardvale and West Andover.

The piles around the schools, when the job was sweatingly completed, were something to see. It was a remarkable achievement for 1500 youngsters from high, junior high and grammar, public and parochial schools. It was a smashing success in the Battle of Andover.

None of the numerous previous appeals for scrap of every description will be as searching as the one to be conducted here Sunday. It is hoped that every bit of scrap, down to battered teapots and pans, will be made available to the collectors. The effort of the individual will mean everything.

Metals, rags and rope, rubber are particularly needed, and house-holders are urged to make separate piles of those three materials by Saturday evening on the curbsings before their homes. Trucks will be sent through town to collect the scrap, starting at 9:30 Sunday morning. There will be 48 different vehicles on the job, 33 trucks and 15 station wagons. Nine trucks will be available to collect extra-heavy masses of junk, if the person owning them will call the civilian defense office, telephone 1361, before Saturday.

Townpeople are cautioned not to throw away anything which they really need, and not to stop saving scrap after the collection. There will be other collections, and they may even be more intensive. Those who will have any amount of tin, other metals, rubber, rope and rags accumulating some time after Sunday's collection need not wait for a future round-up; they may bring them to the town scrap heaps themselves.

An enormous total of 275,000 pounds of metal alone is needed from Andover at the present time, an average of 25 pounds for every man, woman and child who lives here. More than two tons of tin was collected recently; more than 40 tons of materials was sent to the Gutterson and Gould yards Monday; 40 more were collected Tuesday. But the surface has not yet been scratched.

SPEAKS AT RALLY

Robert Bisset of North Main street, captain of this year's football team at Tufts college, was one of the speakers at a rally held at the college Friday evening, preceding the opening game of the season. Others taking part in the program were President Leonard Carmichael, Coach Lew Manly and Clarence Houston, director of athletics.

Special Children's Events In Servicemen's Carnival

An extensive sports program for young people of all ages is now being planned for Monday morning at the playstead, beginning at 10:00. The program will be conducted in connection with the Andover Servicemen's Fund activities, and will be in charge of Miss Margaret Davis, supervisor of the Andover Guild. She will be assisted by several members of her staff at the local playgrounds last summer, including Benjamin Dimlich and Misses Elinor Driscoll, Shirley Hey, Louise Wingate, Catherine Sweeney, Grace Bohner, Barbara Loomer and Constance Cole.

The activities Monday morning will be divided into three classes, each including several competitive events, and 25-cent war stamps will be awarded the first place winners in each event.

In the first part of the program, a children's parade will be held in front of the bleachers, and entries will be judged in such divisions as original patriotic posters, decorated doll and baby carriages, victory costumes for girls, for boys, decorated bicycles, decorated pushmo-biles and wagons.

The second division will consist of races. There will be a shoe scramble for boys under 12 and one for girls under 12; a balloon-bursting contest for boys under 12, and then for girls in that age group; dashes for boys under 12, girls under 12, boys over 12, and girls over 12; bicycle race for boys; bicycle race for girls; tug-of-war for boys over 16, and for girls over 16; finally, a peanut scramble for pre-school children.

As the third part of the morning's program, a football game will be held between teams of junior boys, under the direction of Benjamin Dimlich.

Innes Now Training In Naval Reserves

Andrew M. Innes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew K. Innes of Haggett's Pond road, left Sunday for Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana, to begin training there for a commission in the U. S. Naval Reserve. After a month there, he will continue his studies for three months at Northwestern university.

He was president and valedictorian of the class of 1937 at Pynchard high school, and received his degree in business administration in June from Boston university.

School Committee

A report from the buildings and grounds committee and Superintendent Edward I. Erickson, detailing work done during the summer on the school buildings, was approved. It was voted to close off the stairways leading to the upper floors of the Bradlee school during the winter, in order to conserve heat.

A new textbook, "Science of Pre-Flight Aeronautics," was accepted for use in the new aeronautics course being conducted for the older high school boys by James Hart of the Pynchard faculty.

The financial statement for the month was approved and filed, as was a warrant of bills and accounts for $19,047.90.

Junior High Notes Claudia Nicoll

Tuesday the Junior high turned out for the scrap drive with great enthusiasm. All possible scrap was collected from every home in the district. The home rooms were divided into squads, a captain and lieutenant heading each squad. The boys and girls exclaimed about the "all out for defence" manner in which the housewives cooperated with them. A large amount of scrap was collected and deposited in the school yard.

Give It To Them

For years we sent it to Japan, shutting our business-minded eyes to the fact that the Japs were dumping it down on the Chinese, and also shutting our lack-of-foresight eyes to the possibility that some day those back-stabbing Japs might some day toss it back at us.

That's what they've been doing with the scrap metal that we used to send them. Some of it probably landed on top of a few ships in Pearl Harbor, some of it killed our boys on Bataan.

Now we need that scrap metal, need it desperately, and we're going to fire it at them, this time. We thought it good business to sell it to them; it's much better business to give it to them the way our boys on the firing line want to give it to them.

Last Tuesday our youngsters showed that they realized how terribly important it is to collect all our scrap metal. Those children did themselves proud; it was really impressive to see a bed spring going up the street with six or eight little feet trudging along beside it. And did you see the group of 14 or 15 youngsters who came up North Main street hill with a bed spring on top of which was piled a mountain of scrap, heavy but not too heavy for young America?

Sunday it's our turn, we grown-ups who for one reason or another have not yet become part of the armed forces. Andover is going to have an intensive one-day drive for scrap metal, and some 40 trucks will be ready to pick the scrap up off your curbstone Sunday afternoon. We have a quota, a big quota, but let's make it look puny! Let's keep faith with those boys of ours in the Solomons, in New Caledonia, in England, all over the globe, those boys who will be so dependent on that scrap. And let's keep faith with that bunch of youngsters who went out Tuesday; let's give our scrap to make their adult world worth living for.

Scrap, of course you have scrap! You've got lots of it. What is it? It's any metal, any rubber that the armed forces of this country need more than you do. You don't have much metal that won't answer that definition of scrap; look around you and get it all out on your curbing for Sunday afternoon.

Chemist To Address Service Club Tonight

Henry D. Grimes, prominent in the field of chemistry, will speak at the bi-weekly meeting of the Andover Service club this evening at 6:15 at the Andover Inn. He will speak on the subject of color and color blindness, a physical defect that has become of primary importance because of the stringent requirements for entry into specialized branches of the armed forces.

Mr. Grimes is not only a good public speaker himself, but also a teacher of the art. He has conducted several courses in public speaking at the YMCA in Lawrence.

At the next regular meeting of the Service club, on October 22, Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, past national commander of the American Legion, will be the speaker of the evening.

Mission In Second Week At St. Augustine's Church

The men's mission at St. Augustine's church, being conducted all this week by Rev. Edward Quinn, O.S.A., and Rev. Robert McGrath, O.S.A., will end Sunday afternoon at 3:00. Mission masses are being held each morning at 5:45 and 7:00, and the regular daily mass is at 7:45.

Evening exercises at 7:45, consisting of rosary, sermon and benediction, will be held tonight, and Friday and Saturday evenings.

Continue Investigating Restaurant Burglary

No further information has been obtained by investigating police on a large-scale break at the Howard Johnson restaurant on South Main street, state police officials reported this morning. An unfruitful check for fingerprints was made yesterday afternoon by Corporal William Faron of the state police fingerprint bureau in Boston.

The sum of $275 was taken in the break, some time Tuesday night, by safe-blowers. The safe, after close of business at 11:00 Tuesday evening, had been removed to the kitchen in the rear, where it was placed in a huge ice chest, evidently to muffle the sound, and blown apart. The ice chest also was considerably damaged. Two cases of expensive whiskey were also stolen.

An investigation is now being conducted by State Trooper Carl Thomas of the local state police barracks, and Lieut. Richard J. Griffin of the district attorney's office. Since the break was not discovered until the restaurant opened for business at 7:00 yesterday morning, considerable time was lost in tracking down the burglars.

Garfield S. Chase, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield S. Chase of 13 Canterbury street, has resumed his studies at New Hampton School for Boys, New Hampton, N. H.

This Sober Town

We see that the Senate has under consideration two new tax bills, destined to raise the national income to hitherto unthought-of heights. The nation's tax collectors may well be proud. Never before was so much owed by so many to so few.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Last Thursday eve, few scattered cranks

Were willing to decry the Yanks;
Experts discovered afterwards
The victory was in the Cards.

With this week's paper, the Townsman closes its 54th year of publication, and next week's issue will mark the beginning of its 55th. While hallowed with the mantle of the years, we don't feel very old, are still able to touch our toes, and get up bright and early in the morning.

Anybody with items suitable for inclusion in the paper sometime in the 1950's or '60's may feel quite safe in forwarding them to our offices of publication.

You can be a good patriot and a bad citizen at the same time, the police department, somewhat to its dismay, found out this week. Some enthusiastic salvager evidently decided that it is better to stop Hitler than to stop traffic, and, the other night, stole one of the heavy portable standards bearing the legend "No Parking" from one of the downtown curbs. It was found, the next day, in the salvage bin on the Hill, and returned to its proper place.

Not that the police department doesn't believe in salvage, of course. Only yesterday Chief George A. Dane deposited in one of the receptacles in a local store, exactly 154 keys, which had been picked up around town and have been awaiting their owners in the department safe these many years. There are brass keys, copper keys, large keys, small keys—and now they're all going to make mon-keys out of the Japs and Nasties.

That whirring noise you heard last night was Noah Webster turning in his grave. We're referring to that "benifit" advertised by the big poster in the square. Since it would hardly have benifiting advertisement for this sober town, the spelling was hastily changed this morning.

REFRESHER COURSE TONIGHT

The refresher course for air raid wardens will be concluded tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial auditorium. All present wardens are expected to attend. The first session was held Monday evening.

Lieut. Betty Buchan of the WAAC, formerly of Andover, is enjoying a short furlough with her sister, Margaret, in Denver, Colo.

Preston and Winston Blake of Stratford road, regional salvage chairmen, will be present at a meeting of the county USDA war board next Thursday, at which the matter of drafting farm labor and the question of the use of 16 year old boys to work on farms will be taken up.

Mrs. Fred Brackett of Main street terrace is spending the week with friends in Dover and Epping, N. H.

Lane Asks Benefits For Merchant Seamen

Congressman Thomas J. Lane filed a bill Tuesday with the clerk of the House of Representatives to confer the same rights, privileges, and benefits upon members of the Merchant Marine during the present war as are conferred upon members of the armed forces. According to this bill any laws heretofore and hereafter enacted conferring rights, privileges, or benefits upon persons serving with our armed forces shall be applicable to any person who serves as a member of the United States Merchant Marine during the period beginning September 27, 1941, and ending with the termination of the present war.

The bill specifically protects those men serving with the Merchant Marine prior to outbreak of war since many of our vessels made perilous trips into the war zone prior to American entry into the conflict. The first Merchant Marine casualty list of World War II, recently released by the Navy Department, revealed that there were a total of 2223 Merchant Marine casualties between September 27, 1941, and August 1, 1942. The Congressman stated that these losses clearly show that the members of the Merchant Marine are daily risking their lives to supply both the armed forces and civilian population with essential commodities. Congressman Lane is of the opinion that the families and dependents of these men should be protected to the same extent as members of the armed forces.

Included in the list of casualties are 254 New Englanders. Of these there were 60 dead and 194 missing. One hundred and eighty-three were from the State of Massachusetts.

Historical Society Meets At Old Abbot Homestead

Members of the Andover Historical society and their guests visited the Benjamin Abbot homestead Saturday afternoon, hearing in detail the history of the ancient building. Arthur Stone Dewing, an authority on early architecture, pointed out the sturdy construction, additions and changes in the building, indicating the evidence of age in its huge oak beams, the deep fireplaces, all being used, the quaint cooking utensils, lighting facilities, and furniture characteristic of the period.

A social hour followed, with the customary refreshments of cider and doughnuts. There was a large attendance, and many took the opportunity to visit the old Abbot-Baker house nearby, now being renovated by Sidney P. White. The Benjamin Abbot house is at present occupied by Miss Irene Cushing, at whose invitation the meeting was arranged. Visitors are always welcome.

On October 17 at 2:00, the fall meeting of the Bay State Historical League will be held with the Dracut Historical Society in Dracut Centre. Rev. Ewart E. Turner of Dracut will speak briefly on "Old Dracut and its Churches," and Frederick W. Coburn of Lowell will speak on the life of Moses Greeley Parker, M. D.

Refreshments will be served, and there will be an opportunity to inspect the museum of Dracut antiquities in the basement of the Parker Memorial library building.

Congressman Lane stated that these figures clearly show that the members of the Merchant Marine are risking their lives to supply the armed forces and civilian population with essential commodities. Congressman Lane is of the opinion that the families and dependents of these men should be treated to the same extent as members of the armed forces.

Included in the list of casualties were 254 New Englanders. Of these there were 60 dead and 194 missing. One hundred and eighty-three from the State of Massachusetts.

Historical Society Meets Old Abbot Homestead

Members of the Andover Historical Society and their guests visited the Benjamin Abbot homestead Friday afternoon, hearing in detail the history of the ancient building. Arthur Stone Dewing, an authority on early architecture, pointed out the sturdy construction, additions and changes in the building indicating the evidence of ages. Huge oak beams, the deep places, all being used, the old cooking utensils, lighting fixtures, and furniture characterized the period.

A social hour followed, with the primary refreshments of cider and doughnuts. There was a large attendance, and many took the opportunity to visit the old Abbot house nearby, now being retitled by Sidney P. White. The Benjamin Abbot house is at present occupied by Miss Irene Cushing, at the invitation the meeting was arranged. Visitors are always welcome.

On October 17 at 2:00, the fall meeting of the Bay State Historical Society will be held with the Andover Historical Society in Dracut. Rev. Ewart E. Turner of Andover will speak briefly on "Old Andover and its Churches," and Erick W. Coburn of Lowell will speak on the life of Moses Greeley, M. D.

Refreshments will be served, and there will be an opportunity to inspect the museum of Dracut anti-slavery in the basement of the Parsonage Memorial Library building.

Fischer Pleads For Indian Freedom

America Should Intervene In Present Serious Crisis

There was never as much distrust of the British in India as there is at the present time, and the Indians may eventually go over to the Axis and cause the allies to lose the war, if America does not attempt to arbitrate the crisis, according to the declaration of Louis Fischer, noted author and columnist, in George Washington hall Friday night. The address marked the opening of Phillips Academy's series of entertainments for the coming season.

If India should be invaded, most likely by the Japanese, but possibly by a fresh German drive, Mr. Fischer continued, the Indians might offer only their famed "passive resistance" or none at all. The Indians would fight for their country if they really believed it was their country, but they do not see any signs that complete independence will be theirs after the war. India does not now hope for complete independence during the war, but asks only for a transfer of political power.

Its leaders would be well content to leave jurisdiction in military affairs in the hands of the British Far Eastern command.

Now is the time for such a transference of power, he said. With the political power vested in India's own government, and the military government handled by the British, there could be no chaos, no civil war, no bloodshed, no betrayal. The process must be gradual, and must be undertaken during the war; if the British were to simply drop India after the war, the consequences would be dire ones.

American forces are now helping to defend India, he continued, and the presence of our troops there makes our intervention in India-British affairs a logical step. "We have a great stake there," he added.

If the German and Japanese forces join in India, however, they will hold the whole Asia-European continent, and the war will be prolonged, and probably, lost. "India is, therefore, in the largest framework of the world's strategy," and once German and Japanese forces approached India on each side, it would be inevitable that it succumb to their desires.

Indian problems are serious ones. It has a population of 400 millions, with a 5 million annual increase. Many diverse problems arise from such vast populations, which are not mitigated by the fact that millions of them, Moslems, Hindus, Untouchables and the other castes and classes, are divided into alien camps. None the less, India feels that it has reached its full maturity as a nation, and that it is time for it to work its own destiny.

Even compared to the low standards of living in China, India's population is miserably poor. Whether rightly or not, they blame their troubles on British rule, and want to supplant it with their own.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, the little 73 year old sage, is "the biggest thing in India today," he intimated. He is the key or symbol to what all Indians want; because of his incarceration, India "was never as anti-British as it is today." Fischer stated that there is not, in the history books, one effort by the British to make peace between the Hindu and Moslem factions, although there have been many measures which have further estranged them. "If the British wished, they could have political unity in India within 48 hours."

"In the last World War," he concluded, "we won a victory and lost a peace. If we do not eliminate such policies, there can easily be a third world war. Imperialists do not recognize that imperialism is dead. The world is malleable now, ready for changes both here and abroad."

LIBRARY NOTES

The following books have recently been added to the Memorial Hall Library:

Argentina—White. A history of the political, social and economic backgrounds of present day Argentina. Mr. White explains the unfriendliness of our South American republic and suggests a remedy. The author's 25 years of association with Latin America enabled him to write a timely and valuable book.

Napoleon's invasion of Russia, 1812—Tarle. For the first time, we have a complete picture of the invasion of Russia. The author, a member of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR, has compiled this detailed account from many sources and shows how those same elements that were the cause of Napoleon's defeat now oppose the invading Nazis. Extremely interesting and timely.

Heroes I have known—Eastman. There is delightful reading in these twelve essays of various heroes and heroines, as Max Eastman calls the people portrayed. Among those fortunate persons included are Isadora Duncan, Charlie Chaplin, Sigmund Freud, John Reed, Eugene V. Debs and Art Young.

Oil, blood and sand—Baker. For those who want to follow the day-to-day accounts of the war with intelligence and understanding, this survey of the Middle East will provide a remarkable foundation of knowledge.

Army woman's handbook—Collins. Financial, legal and social information for the woman who is connected in any way with some person in the service.

Scientific books; Breneman—Mathematics; Swann — Physics; Thompson—Algebra for the practical man; Trigonometry for the practical man; Timbie—Essentials of electricity, Elements for electricity; Wendt—Chemistry.

See here, Private Hargrove. This delightful record of Private Hargrove's observations of army life is entertainment plus.

Mysteries: Walling—Corpse with the eerie eye; Long—Vicious circle; Reilly—Name your poison.

The coming battle of Germany—Ziff. Since the first World War, the author has had an intense interest in all phases of aeronautics. He has been editor of "Aeronautics Magazine," "Flying" and other technical publications. Now as an authority he discusses the importance of concentration of air power, the strengthening of South American support, and the possibility of land offensive in Europe.

DEATHS

A resident here for many years, Mrs. Margaret (Warden) MacDonald Carnegie, 79, widow of John Carnegie, died Tuesday night at the home of her son, Floyd MacDonald of Woburn street. She was a native of Scotland.

Surviving are three sons, Clarence MacDonald of Bridgeport, Conn., and Kenneth and Floyd MacDonald of this town; a sister, Miss Molly Warden of Andover; four grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The funeral will be held from the Lundgren funeral home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services conducted by Rev. Herman C. Johnson. Interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Our men need tanks, ships and guns. The steel for these must be made from 50 percent scrap metal. But the Nation's steel mills don't have enough scrap on hand to last even 30 days more! Keep 'em running. Help build up a huge scrap stockpile Sunday—the bigger the better.

Go down into your basement—your store-room. Climb up to the attic too. Look at the unused stuff you're sure to find; and realize how important these odds and ends can be. Important to a kid half way around the world. Important to a blue-clad gob—to a flyer, racing to reach the target before some knifing Messerschmidt can find its mark.

That old metal means STEEL for these men. And steel means armor plate for safety—weapons and ships for Victory.

Without it they'll die. They're not afraid of that—but it's better to give a life for a cause than to be sacrificed by thoughtlessness. And it's better yet to live, knowing that the folks back home didn't let them down.

AND WE WON'T LET THEM DOWN! Sunday climaxes our big scrap collection drive—and you're going to help make it a good one. Don't let up because you see a full junk yard or a brimming salvage depot. That's the way they've GOT to be to make sure the mills won't run out!

Carnival

Already, according to the report of Charles Foster, fund-treasurer, $738.72 has been deposited in the bank, $257.87 of which was realized from the committee's salvage drive.

Tags are already going like hot cakes for the carnival, and they bear detachable chance tickets for war bond prizes to be given away on Saturday and Monday nights. The local clergymen are all cooperating by planning special sermons on patriotic subjects for Sunday's services.

Here's the complete program:

Midway Opens Friday

The midway will open Friday night at 7:00, not Saturday afternoon, as previously announced. All the booths will be open, refreshments will be sold, all the amusements will be ready for business.

Saturday afternoon, at 2:00, the midway will open again; there will be games and prizes. From 4:30 to 7:30, a real old-fashioned bean supper will be held in the school cafeteria, at which all Andover will sit down to get acquainted with its neighbors. Large numbers of tickets have already been sold for the supper, and they will be sold at the door for late-comers. It is earnestly desired, however, that those attending purchase their tickets in advance, in order that Rowland Luce and his committee may have some idea of the amount of food necessary.

Saturday evening, the midway will still be open, and there will be special drawings for seven or eight door prizes. These prizes will be drawn for on Saturday and Monday evenings, seven or eight of them each night. One of them is a ton of coal; others are of similar value.

War Bond Drawings

War bonds will be drawn for, also on Saturday and Monday nights—and that's "bonds", not "stamps." The lucky persons must be present at the time of the drawing in order to receive the prizes. Tickets valid for all the drawings are attached to the tags now being sold. Dancing will be held in the Memorial gymnasium on Saturday and Monday evenings, with Harold Phinney as master of ceremonies.

Sunday morning will be reserved for the special church services mentioned above. In the afternoon, the American Legion and auxiliary will dedicate its servicemen's plaque in front of the town hall, with Commandant Lawrence F. Quigley of the Chelsea Soldier's Home as speaker.

At 3:00, Alec Duke's Andover soccer team will play St. Michael's of Boston, a game that should be well worth watching. Refreshments will be sold on the midway during the course of the game, and the Andover Brass Band will give several selections before and after the game and between the halves.

Community Song Festival

Sunday evening's program should be one of the most enjoyable on the list. At 7:30, in the Memorial auditorium, a special community get-together will be held. Group singing will be led by J. Everett Collins, the Andover Male Choir and a special women's chorus, and the audience is expected to join in. Dr. Claude M. Fuess of Phillips Academy will give a patriotic address, and a special moving picture will be shown.

Columbus Day morning, the town's young people will get a chance to strut their stuff, in a special patriotic and athletic program all their own. Details may be found elsewhere in this issue. The midway, by the way, will be open all day and all evening Monday.

Football, Too

At 3:00, the Andover Town team will play its first football team of the season against St. Monica's Eagles of Methuen. This year's team is coached by Bill Tammany, and has been holding rugged practice sessions all this week. Incidentally, the kickoff time was unostentatiously changed from 2:00 to 3 this week. Reason: many of the players are employed in local war plants, and will be hard at work till shortly before game time. There's spirit for you.

After the game, the midway will be open for business, and again through the evening, when the second drawing for door prizes and war bonds will be held. Dancing will close the weekend's program in the gymnasium, again under Harold Phinney's direction.

Doing Their Part

The organizations manning the midway booths will be: grocery wheel and turkey jam session, Local 137, United Rubber Workers of America; animal fortune booth, Veterans of Foreign Wars, its auxiliary and the Mother's club; cigarette dart, American Legion and auxiliary; cold refreshments, Square and Compass club and Thimble club; novelty game, Andover Town team; animal wheel, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs; candy table, Knights of Columbus and Catholic Daughters of America; headquarters booth, Sons of the American Revolution; blanket table, Gang Busters and Busterettes; hoop-la, Clan Johnston and auxiliary; hot refreshments, British War Veterans and auxiliary. The Andover Male Choir will have charge of the large mechanical amusements.

November Club Now Planning For Season

The board of directors of the November club are now engaged in formulating a program for the coming year. The first meeting of the new season will be held at the clubhouse on Monday afternoon, November 2.

A few of the topics and noted personalities scheduled for the coming year are Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor's series of lectures on current events; an inspirational talk; an afternoon on wartime fashion; addresses by personalities like Mady Christians, famous actress, Scariatina of Russia, Fulton Oursler, nationally-known editor, and Max Lerner of Williams college.

Mrs. Taylor's lectures are to be held on Wednesday mornings, November 4, December 9, January 13, March 10 and April 14, with one afternoon discussion on February 8. Season tickets may now be purchased from Miss Sarah Bodwell or Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast.

Bowling League To Open

The Square and Compass club bowling league will open its season Friday evening at the Recreation alleys on Park street. As teams will be formed at that time, it is hoped that all interested members will attend.

BALLARDVALE

Friendly Guild Lecture

"Walking through the British Isles" will be the subject of an informal lecture by Miss May Milliken of Melrose before the Friendly Guild of the Union Congregational church October 16 at 8:00 in the church vestry.

Miss Milliken walked alone through Wales, Scotland, Ireland and England, before the war, following youth hostel trails and sometimes traveling on paths rarely used by the ordinary hiker. All women of the parish are invited to attend the lecture. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Helen Coon, Miss Eleanor Coon and Mrs. Marion Cormey.

Dr. East To Speak

Friendly Guild Meets

At a meeting of the Friendly Guild Friday evening, scrap books were worked on and plans made for the supper to be held in conjunction with the coming fair. Appointed as a supper committee were Mrs. Marion Cormey, Mrs. Mary Bruce, Mrs. Alta Matthews, Mrs. Helen Webb and Mrs. Howard Paulson. Mrs. Arthur Covell was appointed to serve on the committee for the renovation of the kitchen.

Rev. and Mrs. David Segerstrom received a surprise gift of an adjustable screen for use with their moving picture camera. Mr. Segerstrom showed movies, using the new screen.

Bean Supper Planned

The Women's society for Christian service of the Methodist church will hold a baked bean supper in the church vestry next Thursday evening from 5:30 to 7:00. Tickets may be purchased from the children or at the door. Mrs. Frances Benson is chairman of the supper, and will be assisted by the other ladies of the society.

Christian Endeavor To Meet

The Christian Endeavor societies of the Union Congregational church will meet Sunday afternoon at 5:00, with John Rogge as speaker. Refreshments will be served by Rev. and Mrs. David Segerstrom. All young people of the church are invited to attend the meeting and to join the societies.

Special Services Planned

The Methodist, St. Joseph and Union Congregational churches will join the Andover churches in holding special services Sunday morning. At the Union Congregational church, an honor roll of parish members in service will be on display.

Free Church Cub Pack Opens Season Tuesday

The Cub pack which met in the Free church last winter and spring will resume activities for this season with a meeting at the church Tuesday evening at 6:00. Robert Meadowcroft will be the pack leader this year, replacing Mr. Newman, who was forced to give up his work on account of the gasoline shortage.

New boys will be welcomed. The Cubs are an organization for boys 9 to 11 years of age, which provides group play and training preparatory for Scouting.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

The American Legion auxiliary, last Friday night, reelected Mrs. L. W. Mulse, one of its most active and untiring members, as president for the coming year. Other officers include Mrs. Frank McCarthy, senior vice-president; Mrs. Paul Cheney, junior vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Jowett, secretary; Mrs. H. Garrison Holt, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Simon, chaplain; Mrs. Edward Lawson, historian; Mrs. John Keefe, sergeant-at-arms; Miss Ethel Hilton, Mrs. Harold Peters and Mrs. Harry Wrigley, executive board. District Director Mrs. Mary Rowell of Peabody, and her staff, will install the new officers on October 29.
